Feed Compounder is a UK based journal for the animal feed industry dealing exclusively with feed matters. If you work for a feed company, or advise or supply feed manufacturers, then Feed Compounder is your best bet for keeping in touch.

Feed Compounder is a complete magazine for the feed industry and caters for its full range of personnel. The journal is read by senior executives, mill managers, production managers, nutritionists, raw materials buyers, supplement manufacturers, feed salesmen and feed merchants. Strong, informed editorial comment and opinion sections, in-depth technical articles and pertinent news columns guarantee you full value for money from each issue. Without question, Feed Compounder is the most informed and highly regarded publication serving the trade.

The subscription includes six issues of the journal in a high quality printed colour format, together with a password protected on-line pdf version of the content which you can access from anywhere, search and use to archive back issues. In addition, subscribers automatically receive the Feed Compounder e-letter, with views, comment, analysis and discussion of topical issues in the feed sector from the magazine's respected editorial team. If you prefer not to receive the printed copies, there is the option to receive the on-line pdf version and the e-letter alone, at a reduced rate. Discounts are also available if you sign up for two or three years.
